

Associated Colleges of Illinois

Eric W. Fulcomer

Eric Fulcomer was named Rockford University's 18th president in 2016 after serving three years as Rockford's vice president for enrollment management, with nearly two decades of leadership experience in higher education. Prior to Rockford, he served 19 years at Bluffton University in Ohio, most recently as vice president for enrollment management and student life, where he oversaw and managed 11 functional areas including the undergraduate admissions, financial aid and student life offices. Fulcomer served 11 years in elected positions in Bluffton, including village council member, village council president and mayor.