

Leslie Scarpance, MEd, IADP, CPTD
Program Consultant
lscarpance@acifund.org

An experienced talent development professional, Leslie Scarpance has worked in higher education, K-12 and corporate settings. Leslie's areas of expertise include organizational development, faculty and staff development, accessible learning design and delivery, online e-course development, and student and staff engagement.

Leslie holds a master's degree in instructional technology, a certificate in Information Accessibility Design and Policy (IADP), and the Certified Professional in Talent Development credential through the Association for Talent Development (ATD).

Previous employment includes Walgreens (contracted consultant), College of DuPage (consultant), Northern Illinois University, DeKalb Community Unit School District 428, McHenry County College and Western Kentucky University.

Committed to professional and community service, Leslie has served in leadership roles at local and national levels.

Leslie enjoys playing guitar, gardening, crocheting and time with family and friends.