Deborah M. Sawyer, an ACI Corporate Trustee, environmental scientist and executive, passed away August 7 after battling cancer. Sawyer was best known as founder and CEO of Environmental Design Inc., Chicago, where she worked for 25 years. She was also a promoter of STEM education for minorities and women.

Sawyer joined the ACI Board of Trustees earlier this year. "We extend our deepest sympathies to Deborah's family," said Mick Weltman, ACI executive director. "Despite her illness, Deborah actively supported ACI and brought to the board great enthusiasm for our mission to help first-generation, minority and low-income students succeed in college. We will miss her."

Information about Sawyer's life and career is available on the Environmental Design website.
